It was prophesied to Keisha at a young age that she would go into ministry, but Keisha initially took a different path. She obtained her bachelor's in political science from North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and went to work in the corporate world. That conference in Littleton gave birth to Ripple Effect Ministry where she educates, equips and empowers individuals to change their lives through truth, hope and love. Just as the name suggests, Ripple Effects gave way to many more opportunities, such as conferences and programs. She's gone into schools, churches, colleges and corporate industries to host Real Talk sessions where attendees can get real solutions to real issues such as politics, drugs, race and accomplishing goals. Keisha has been invited to speak on various occasions about numerous topics like marriage, self-improvement, receiving your breakthrough from the Lord, identity and getting back up when it seems like the Devil has you defeated.
